Report Would Change House Representation

A special State Legislative Committee has brought in a report ... to legislative redistricting of Virginia in line with equirements se... as to comply with population figures from the latest census.

The study commission has put into its report the recommendation that more representation be given to metropolitan areas, such as in northern Virginia.

The report does not ask any changes in the Congressional district of Congressman Watkins M. Abbitt, nor of State Senator Chas T. Moses. However, the report asks for a re-vamping of the House of Delegates alignment, putting Appomattox in a new district, made up of Appomattox, Charlotte and Prince Edward Counties. Tradition ally, Appomattox has been in district aligned with Buckingham and also with Cumberland. The district is currently represented by D. W. A. Pennington, of Buckingham.

The report may or may not be enacted into law by the next session of the legislature. However, it is certain that this or swil lbe t op item when the legislature convenes in January.

Farm Tour

A group of farmers, business people and professional workers from Prince Edward, and Amelia counties will visit several Appomattox and Campbell County farms Wednesday, Dec. 6, to observe and study practices which have proven beneficial and profitable.

Among the farms to be visited are those of Carson Bros., Appomattox, where a new self-feeding silo is in use; C. M. Torrence, at Sheffield, where effective soil and water conservation practices have proven beneficial, and Drowne Bros., Rustburg, where a good land use program is being followed and where both hay and silage are being fed by use of a self-feeding arrangement.

TOBACCO VOTE

Flue cured tobacco growers will vote Tuesday, December 12, 1961, on marketing quotas for the next three crops, C. D. Lewis, Chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminded farmers today.

Growers eligible to vote in the referendum are all those who produced flue-cured tobacco, 1961 and shared in the crop or its proceeds. Also each person who was either the owner or operator of a farm for which a 1961 flu-cured tobacco allotment was established is eligible to vote, even though no tobacco was actually produced on the farm, if any of the allotment was preserved for history purposes..

"The decision to be made in the quota referendum can be simply stated," Chairman Lewis declared. "If quotas for flu-cured tobacco are approved by at least two-thirds of the growers voting, the law provides that the present program will be continued for the next three years with penalties on 'excess' tobacco marketed, acreage allotments and price supports.

"On the other hand, if more than one-third of the voters disapprove quotas by voting NO, there will be no marketing quotas, no penalties on 'excess' tobacco, and no price support program on the 1962 crop.

"In that event, another referendum would be held next year on marketing quotas for the next three crops."

Notices of individual farm acreage allotments will be mailed, on Dec. 1, to farm operators so that they may know in advance of the vote how the quotas will affect their farming operations in 1962.

Chairman Lewis urged all eligible flue-cured tobacco growers to vote in this important referendum.

Chap Voting Precinct is the voting place for Appomattox County. Polls will be open from 8:00 A.M. until 6:00 P.M.

Lebanon seeks to ease Syrian complaints.

The chant of the tobacco auctioneer rang out again this week in Virginia's famed darkleaf belt and farmers, generally were pleased with what the buyers were offering.

Sales began on Tuesday, and kept up a heavy pace the rest of the week, as we go to press. And the price average was pleasing.

The first two days saw 1,183,302 pounds of leaf sold in Farmville and Lynchburg, for an average of better than $ per hundred pounds.

Growers received $244,937 on opening day, and $581,622 Wednesday.

It has been predicted that about one-half of the crop will be sold by the time of the Christmas holiday season, before the warehouses resume sales in Janonry.

One factor contributing to the heavy volume of early sales is the most suitable weather condition fo reading leaf for market.

Appomattox has usually been the banner county in the darkleaf belt. About 10,125,000 pounds of darkleaf are normally sold in the belt. This is, this year, a bit up from some recent seasons.

Last year, growers received about $5,600,000 in the belt for their crop.

The warehouses will close for the Christmas holiday on Dec. 19, and reopen on January 8.

LOCAL MAN PROMOTED

James C. Austin, a native of Appomattox Co., now of Louisville, Ky., has been elected director of Stewardship development in Louisville, for the Stewardship Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Austin has been assistant to the president of Southern Baptist Theological Seminary since 1958.
